

Mocking-Up: Manifesting

Ever heard of a 'Mock-Up'? It's the bedrock of our ability to Create... everything from a better job, better rent, better car... to even Who We Are and What we'd like to Become... Sound cool? Let's begin...

- Find your space: Ground, and give yourself a Golden Sun
 - Create a rose
 - Imagine it's there, -&/or-
 - Know what it would look like, -&/or-
 - Reach-out and feel it with your hands (rub/awaken your hands first)
 - Visualize something you'd like in that rose
 - Make it clear, specific, -&-
 - See/Know/Sense it clearly, -&-
 - Feel how great it'll be when you Get it... -now-
 - Ground that rose!
 - Notice if it now has a specific color, texture, shape
 - Validate that rose
 - "It looks/seems cool!"
 - "I really do see/know/sense it's there!"
 - "I really can have it!"
 - Give the rose a golden sun... -then-
 - Snip the stem of the rose, & let it go-out to the Universe to manifest! Now sit-back, & give yourself a golden sun... And go-off & do something fun for yourself.
- You might want to 'check' on your mock-up (rose) occasionally... see how it's coming-along, if it needs re-grounding or more golden suns... or maybe you'd like to change that mockup. But try not to keep checking it all the time, changing it over & over... because things can get a bit ungrounded, & your 'inner creativity' can get confused... Other ideas:
- Step 3: decide Who/What/Where/When/Why
 - ...but only 1... don't be too 'micro-managing' on your creativity
 - Try to avoid deciding 'How' your mock-up will manifest...
 - Step 6: see/sense/know what color that rose is, and give yourself big 'suns' of that color
 - Make the energy of your creativity real to yourself!
- Above all-- allow your mock-up to manifest in ways you hadn't imagined--
All the best miracles always appear 'unexpectedly'...